The ducks can be found in large quantities in the river.

Governor Stevenson is now rapidly recovering from his sickness.

Miners at the Holmes mine in Candelaria have struck for $3 50 a day wages.

Judge Mayenbaum and District Attorney Jones of Lander are in the city looking after the C. P. tax suits and boundary line squabbles between Lander and Eureka in the Supreme Court.

Jack Furlong's Gordon setter has presented him with a litter of ten thoroughbred pups, all males. They are all perfectly formed, black and white and if in New York, the family would bring $1,000.

The last glove fight at the California Athletic Club was such a tame affair that the audience went to sleep and compared it to a Methodist New Year watch meeting. Cause of slowness—too much Capt. Short and large posse of police.

The Miners' Unions of Storey and Lyon have interviewed the mining Superintendents of the Comstock and obtained permission for every miner on the lode, who may desire to do so, to attend their picnic at Treadway's Park on September 6th.

Before Jack Dempsey and Jack McAuliffe went into the ring they were employed as barrel makers. They got into a row a few nights ago over their respective illities as coopers and have arranged for a barrel making contest for $100 a side. Dempsey will probably lose. He certainly tried hard to "make a barrel" the last time he met La Blanche and failed.

A new way to run a church fair is to have a placard as follows: "Admission 50 cents, to kiss the baby 25 cents."

A lot of babies ranging from 16 to 20 are put in a row and a man kisses anyone he pleases for 25 cents and can repeat as often as he pays.

Such a fair as this would rouse great enthusiasm for the churches in this city.

A Better Man Required.

The Nevada, Cal., Herald says: The position of blacksmith at the Idaho mine is considered such a desirable place that all the papers give a notice of the promotion of the assistant to the foremanship. To which the Grass Valley Telegraph responds, and why not? The position is better than a good many public offices and it takes a darn sight better man to fill the blacksmith's position at the Idaho mine than it does to run an average office.

Who Shall Boss?

Now that the County primaries are near at hand, the question of who shall be Boss is beginning to be seriously agitated.

There is talk every where that the old bosses must retire and give some new men a chance, and the old bosses say that having found the duties of bossism full of toil, expense and responsibility, they are quite content to step down and let other people try their hands. A boss does not sleep on a bed of roses by any means.

A good many men think they could be political bosses who after trying the experiment are glad enough to throw up the job and get back to the ranks again. Still every voter has the undeniable right to aspire to such positions, the same right he has to run for constable or desire to go to the Legislature.

The selection of a Boss comes of a process that no one can exactly explain. All of a sudden some man is boss and that seems to be the end of it. He has no credentials for the convention and no paper of any kind but he wakes up some snoring boss and no one disputes his claim.

Then again there is the man who is publicly voted as the boss and there some fellow in the back ground who is really the boss, that the public never hear of. The other fellow must be content with the glory of his title, but the fellow behind the scenes is the real persimmon raker.

In studying the question a man must figure whether he wants the glory or the persimmons.

This year the all bosses of Ormsby say that they are ready to step down for the good of the party and let the new bosses in.

Now the question arises who are to be the new bosses?

Better let old hands have a Crawford primary and let each voter write on his ticket who he wants to be Boss. The fellow taking the most votes into his camp assumes the duties and responsibilities of office.

Persons wishing to announce their candidacy for Boss can leave their announcements at this office accompanied by the regular fee.

Rickey's Return.

Tom Rickey, the author of the great cattle losses in Humboldt county, is in town again. He is now studying up some new cattle stories to turn loose but will hold them back awhile until he can get his conservative partner Kirman to endorse them. Kirman says: "Tom has spells when he sees all sorts of things. He once told me he saw several steers climb a big pine tree in the mountains to feed off the branches and the branches were 80 feet high. You mustn't notice Tom when he has these spells."

The Mail Service.

The Candelaria Chloride Belt asks: "How is it that there come to this office at one time seven and eight Reno Journals and Gazettes, all of different dates? Our mail service badly needs looking after."

The newspaper mail service is badly demoralized. The Gazette does not reach its San Francisco subscribers more than three times a week. Complaints come from all parts of the country.—Gazette.

The APPEAL has the same trouble with its subscribers. Some only get the paper once in a week and some get the week all in a bunch. The mail service of Nevada was never so completely out of joint as now.

The game law expires on the 1st. Secure your shells at (agwin & Noteware's Shells scientifically loaded are 50 per cent better than the ordinary. Guns and fishing tackle of the best quality.

A. O. U. W.

The Grand Lodge of A. O. U. W. which convened at Salt Lake City last week, authorized Montana to form a separate jurisdiction to take effect next January. This will leave the Nevada jurisdiction with 2,300 members and the Montana jurisdiction with 1,600 members, at present, but the numbers will doubtless be increased before January. The next session of the Grand Lodge will be held at Ogden.
